INTRODUCTION

"No one shall be condemned unheard" is one of the basic principles of natural justice. This equally applies to domestic enquiry. To put this principle into practice is however, a difficult job. This problem arises because the rules and laws for conducting domestic enquiry have to be garnered from myriad decisions of High Courts and the Supreme Court. Inadequate understanding of the basic principles and the emerging trends as evident through judicial interpretations, has often resulted in setting aside of findings of domestic enquiries. Departure from impartiality and objectivity in domestic enquiry, in other words denial of opportunity to the delinquent employee to prove his innocence amounts to denial of justice. Undoubtedly, the quality of domestic enquiry has an important role to play in building up morale and trust in the organization.

This programme has been designed to give the participants an in depth understanding of the basic principles of natural justice and element of objectivity in procedures relating to domestic enquiry. In addition to the conceptual and pragmatic issues relating to the subject, judgements of High Courts and the Supreme Court will also be discussed during the programme with a view to enlighten and enrich the participants on various aspects of domestic enquiry so that they can perform their role, in this regard, effectively.
